NEW COURSE OFFERING

ACCESS TO JUSTICE: SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY AND THE LAW

Spring 2011-Professor John H. Cross
3 Credits-Saturdays from 11:00 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Text: Social Justice: Professionals, Communities, and Law by Mahoney, Calmore, Wildman (West publication).

This class will explore current efforts to ensure that everyone has access to our legal system and the many existing obstacles to that goal. Students will identify the issues, settings and approaches to social justice and the law.

Students will learn how they can contribute, regardless of the career path that they ultimately choose. Careers in the public sector and/or meaningful pro bono work will also be explored. Students will be reminded why they came to law school and have chosen to become members of the legal profession.
