This exam consists of [2] parts for a total of 35 Points. The total time for the exam is one hour and 15 minutes.

Part One consists of [2] definitions, worth 5 points each, for a total value of 10 points;

Part Two consists of [5] directed, short answer questions, worth 5 points each, for a total value of 25 points;

I will give a 15 minute warning, at which point no one may leave the room until the exam ends. I will also warn you when there are 5 minutes left and 1 minute left. When I call time, you are to stop writing immediately.

GOOD LUCK !!!

PART ONE - Define each principle given below, clearly, fully and correctly. (Each definition is worth 5 points.)

1. Murder _____

2. Insanity defenses _____

This image shows a single page of white paper with horizontal ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

PART TWO – DIRECTED, SHORT-ANSWER QUESTIONS (each question is worth 5 points)

The following short-answer questions each raises a single issue and requires a short answer ONLY. Please review the following hypotheticals, reflect on each, and consider your response before you write it. Limit your answer to the space provided. I will not read anything written beyond the lines provided. Pay particular attention to the call of the question.

QUESTION 1: Mick was driving home from MSL on a Friday evening after a very long day of studying for his mid-terms. As he was traveling South on Route 93, he saw Sandra, a classmate of his, attempting to merge onto the on-ramp for 495 South. Sandra failed to slow down enough to take the exit and her car ran into the guard rail and flipped over. The accident looked fairly serious. Certain that someone would report the accident and anxious to get to the liquor store to purchase a 30 pack of Pabst Blue Ribbon before the store closed, Mick did not stop to offer assistance. Unfortunately for Sandra, no one reported the accident until several hours after Mick passed by and she died from internal bleeding before reaching the hospital. If the State Police learn that Mick drove by the accident, but did not intervene or call 911, can he be held criminally liable?

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal blue or grey ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are approximately 20 lines visible. The paper appears to be a standard notebook page or a sheet of stationery. There is no handwriting or other markings on the page.

QUESTION 2: Robert Blake and his wife Bonnie Lee were having dinner at Vitello's Restaurant enjoying a couple of bottles of the finest red wine with their meals. During dinner Blake saw another man wink at Bonnie Lee and he Bonnie Lee began to argue over the fact that another man was paying attention to her. Blake had long suspected that Bonnie Lee was cheating on him with other men and he even suspected that she was having an affair with his older brother. The argument culminated with Bonnie telling Blake, "Well if it will ease your mind, I have been untrue to you," and "oh, by the way, your brother is much better than you in bed." Upon hearing this Blake lost his temper, and in fact, was so enraged that when he pulled a hammer out of his fanny pack all he saw was red as he began hitting his wife in the head with the hammer. At trial for the murder Bonnie Lee Blake argued that he was adequately provoked by his wife's statements and he requested that the court properly instruct the jury on a theory mitigation of murder to voluntary manslaughter. However, the trial court judge refused to give such an instruction stating that Bonnie Lee's statements to Blake was not such provocation as could justify a conviction for manslaughter instead of murder. Blake was subsequently convicted of murder and sentenced to death.

Blake appeals his conviction of murder and argues that he should have been able to submit to the jury evidence of mitigation of murder to manslaughter. How should the appeals court rule?

QUESTION 3: Mel Gibson and Bruce Willis where having a heated argument on the porch of Mel's lavish mansion over the fact that Oksana, Mel's wife, had posed in pictures depicting Oksana engaged in sexual activity with Bruce. Bruce in an effort to get the pictures back snatched the photos out of Mel's hands and ran across the street to his mansion. A short time later, as Bruce came out of his mansion, he saw Mel approaching his house with his face painted in blue war paint and carrying a cross-bow. A very pregnant Jessica Simpson, who was out getting exercise, happened to be walking by Bruce's house at the time, and Mel told her "watch out" immediately before shooting the arrow. The arrow missed Bruce and instead struck Jessica in the chest. Jessica who was nine months pregnant at the time died of massive blood loss. Baby Nick (Jessica's baby) was born alive about an hour after Jessica died, but died seventeen hours later as a result of the injury inflicted on her mother. Is Mel criminally liable for the death of Baby Nick?

QUESTION 4: Ronald McDonald opened a McDonalds in downtown BurgerVille, which turned out to be a hit with local villagers. After seeing how successful Ronald was, the Burger King decided to open his own joint, and he called it - yep, you guessed it – Burger King. Ronald McDonald was furious and he decided to get even with the Burger so he hired and paid $500 in advance, with another $500 to be paid upon performance, to Grimace, the Hamburglar, the Fry Kids, and Birdie the Early Bird to set fire to Burger King’s new place and to burn it to the ground. Grimace and the gang arrived at Burger King between 3:00 and 4:00 in the morning. Grimace broke one of the windows, and the Fry Kids and Birdie the Early Bird crawled through the window to the interior. The Hamburglar, who was outside with Grimace, handed the Fry Kids and Birdie two containers of gasoline to start the fire. The Burger King building was completely burned to the ground and it was later discovered that the Burger King’s charred body was also found in the rubble. Are Grimace, the Hamburglar, the Fry Kids and Birdie the Early Bird criminally responsible for the Burger King’s death?

Question 5: Momma Bear, Papa Bear and Baby Bear came home after being away for 3 days and found Goldilocks, who had just been released from the Southey Asylum for the Mentally Ill, in their log cabin. Goldilocks at the time was wearing Momma Bear's apron and clothes and she was cooking the Bear's porridge. Goldilocks was subsequently arrested and charged with burglary. Psychiatric reports submitted to the court detailed Goldilock's long history of alcoholism, disease and trauma including ten previous hospital confinements for treatment.

At trial Goldilocks pled not guilty to the charge of burglary, arguing that she did not have the specific intent to commit burglary, which is a required element to be proved in order to be convicted of the crime. Goldilocks' attorney argued that Goldilocks was operating under a delusion that she owned the log cabin and its contents and as a result of those delusions did not have the intent to commit theft or any felony.

What specific defense should Goldilocks raise; and, if she is tried in a bi-furcated trial at which phase does she raise the defense that she lacked the requisite mens rea to commit the offense?

PART TWO – DIRECTED, SHORT-ANSWER QUESTIONS (Each question is worth 5 points)

Part Two consists of 5 directed hypotheticals, each of which describes a situation from which a criminal charge is likely to be brought and which is, therefore, governed by a particular rule of law. Each hypothetical requires that you identify the specific rule, or rules, that will control the result and requires a short answer, written in the following form.:

Your answer must be a concise, proper analysis that includes: (1) Your statement of the likely result; (2) followed by an explicit statement of the governing rule of law; (3) followed by your application of that rule to the specific facts of the situation.

Limit your answer to the space provided. I will not read anything written beyond the lines provided. Pay particular attention to the call of the question.

Question # 1 is based on the following:

One summer evening, Kelly decided to go swimming in the outside pool of her apartment building. She walked out to the pool and found only Seth, her neighbor's seven-year-old son, was at the pool. Just as she arrived at the pool, Kelly watched while Seth fell into the deep end of the pool and began to thrash around. Although Kelly had been a lifeguard in high school and could easily have saved Seth without any risk to herself, she recalled an incident in the past when Seth let the air out of the tires of her car, so she decided not to intervene. Instead she yelled out, "die you little bastard" as she turned and went back inside her apartment. Because everyone knew that Kelly hated Seth, Kelly feared she might be accused of having pushed Seth into the pool, so she called the police. The police arrived quickly, but Seth had already drowned.

QUESTION # 1 Discuss what crimes were committed and all available defenses. (Please answer using only the space provided)

(Please Limit Your Answer To The Designated Lines Above)

Question # 2 is based on the following:

James Kirk and his wife Uhura Kirk were having dinner at Vitello's Restaurant enjoying a couple of bottles of the finest red wine with their meal. During dinner James saw another man wink at Uhura which angered him, and he began to argue with her because another man was paying attention to her. James had long suspected that Uhura was cheating on him with other men and he even suspected that she was having an affair with his older brother. The argument ended with Uhura telling James, "Well if it will ease your mind, I have been untrue to you," and "oh, by the way, your brother is a much better lover than you in bed." Upon hearing this James lost his temper and, in fact, was so enraged that when he pulled out a hammer from his fanny pack all he saw was red as he began hitting his wife in the head with the hammer. James was later arrested for the brutal murder of his wife.

Question # 3 is based on the following:

During what was supposed to be a romantic get-away at a cabin in the beautiful White Mountains, Clara told Daniel she was pregnant with his child. Daniel, who was not pleased with the news, stormed out of the cabin and decided to leave town. Five months later Daniel returned and attacked Clara, repeatedly saying I "hope the baby dies." During the attack Daniel punched Clara in the abdomen several times causing her to immediately go into premature labor and to gave birth to a girl. Three days later the baby died of massive trauma due to the beating Clara had received from Daniel.

QUESTION # 4 Please state and define what specific defense Goldilocks should raise; and, if she is tried in a bi-furcated trial at which phase would she raise the defense that she lacked the requisite mens rea to commit the offense?

Question # 5 is based on the following:

Georgio hated the presence of homeless people in his wealthy neighborhood of Wellesly. Seeing Deval lying in a cardboard box in an alley near his home he decided to send a message to the homeless. Georgio went inside his home and looked for the sharpest instrument he could find. From his kitchen drawer he took a pair of scissors, went outside and stabbed Deval several time in the neck and back. Georgio didn't intend to kill Deval, he only wanted to frighten the homeless away from his posh neighborhood. The wounds Georgio inflicted were deep enough to kill an ordinary man but the autopsy revealed not only the extent of the stab wound but also the fact that Deval was already dead when Georgio stabbed him. Deval had died an hour earlier from dehydration and hypothermia.

Question # 1 is based on the following:

Paul was in the habit of carrying a large amount of cash with him after payday. His good friend Charlie was worried that someday Paul might get robbed. To teach Paul to be more careful, and intending only to frighten him, the friend purchased a realistic-looking toy gun and a face mask and hid in the bushes one night after payday, waiting for Paul to come home. As Paul passed by, Charlie jumped out of the bushes, pointed the toy gun at him, and took all of his money. Paul was badly frightened by the incident. Shortly thereafter, Charlie returned the money to Paul.

Question # 2 is based on the following:

While Farmer Brown was plowing his cornfield his tractor broke down. While attempting to repair it, he discovered that he needed a special kind of tool to make the repairs. Farmer Brown knew that his neighbor, Farmer Fred, used the same type of tractor and kept a large assortment of tools in a shed attached to his house. Not wanting to make the long drive to the John Deere store to purchase a special tool he was likely to use only once, Farmer Brown went to Farmer Fred's house to borrow the special tool. However, no one was home so he decided to look in Farmer Fred's shed for the special tool. To gain entry into the shed, Farmer Brown opened an unlocked window and climbed through the opening to gain entry to the shed. Once inside, Farmer Brown found the tool and took it with him to work on the tractor. Farmer Fred returned soon after and contacted the police when he discovered that one of his tools was missing. Through a diligent investigation the police were able to determine that Farmer Brown took the tool.

Question # 3 is based on the following:

Jay a college student was the sole lifetime beneficiary under a large trust administered by a banker. Jay received large monthly distributions from the trust, and whenever he ran short, he simply called the banker for extra funds, because the trust provided that Jay was to receive whatever he needed from income or principal. Jay's roommate, Scott, found out about the trust arrangement and decided to see if he could make it pay off for him. Scott sent a telegram to the banker, which appeared to be from Jay, and which asked for several thousand dollars to cover medical expenses. The telegram further stated that, since he (Jay) was in the hospital, Jay would send his roommate (Scott) to pick up the cash. The next day, Scott showed up at the banker's office and obtained the money on the promise that he would take it to Jay. Scott fled with the funds.

Question # 6 is based on the following:

Sam was at Melissa's house playing cards and drinking heavily one night during which time they both became intoxicated. After several hours both Sam and Melissa passed out. In the middle of the night, Sam awoke with a headache so he went to the kitchen and poured himself another shot of Maker's Mark. Sam also felt hungry and decided to make himself some green eggs and ham. After fixing his snack he inadvertently forgot to turn off the stove. A gas leak occurred, causing a fire that burned down the house.

PART ONE – Consists of five multiple choice questions. (each question is worth 2 points)

Question # 1. In a crowded football stadium, a man saw a wallet fall out of a spectator's purse. The man picked up the wallet and found that it contained $100 in cash. Thinking that he could use the money and seeing no one watching, the man put the wallet in the pocket of his coat. Just then, the spectator approached the man and asked if he had seen a missing wallet. The man said no and went home with the wallet.

Of what crime, if any, is the man guilty?

- (A) Embezzlement.
- (B) False pretenses.
- (C) Larceny.
- (D) No crime.

Question # 2. A woman went to an art gallery and falsely represented that she was an agent for a museum and wanted to purchase a painting that was hanging in the gallery. The woman and the gallery owner then agreed on a price for the painting to be paid 10 days later, and the woman took the painting. When the gallery failed to receive the payment when due the owner called the museum and discovered that the woman did not work there. The owner then notified the police.

When interviewed by the police the woman admitted making the false representation and acquiring the painting, but she said she believed that the painting had been stolen from her by someone who worked in the gallery.

Is the woman guilty of obtaining property by false pretenses?

- (A) No, because she believed that the painting belonged to her.
- (B) No, because the gallery owner would have sold the painting to anyone who agreed to pay the price.
- (C) Yes, because even if her representation was not material, she never intended to pay for the painting.
- (D) Yes, because she knowingly made a false representation on which the gallery owner relied.

Question # 3. A man had spent the evening drinking at a local bar and was weaving down the street on his way home, singing. Suddenly, a person wearing a cartoon character mask jumped out from an alley, pointed his gun at the man, and snarled, "This is loaded, buddy, and I don't mind using it. Hand over your cash pronto." The man was so drunk that he failed to understand what was going on and started to howl with laughter at the sight of the cartoon mask. Surprised and rattled by the man's reaction, the masked gunman fled. The man soon recovered his composure and staggered home safely.

The crimes below are listed in descending order of seriousness. What is the most serious crime of which the masked gunman may properly be charged and convicted?

- (A) Attempted robbery.
- (B) Attempted battery.
- (C) Attempted larceny.
- (D) No crime.

Question 4. A woman told a man to go into her friend's unlocked barn and retrieve an expensive black saddle that she said she had loaned to the friend. The man went to the friend's barn, opened the door, found a black saddle, and took it back to the woman's house. The friend had in fact not borrowed a saddle from the woman, and when the friend discovered her black saddle missing, she suspected that the woman was the thief. The friend used a screwdriver to break into the woman's house to find the saddle. Upon discovering the saddle on the woman's table, the friend took it back and called the police.

The jurisdiction follows the common law, except that burglary covers structures in addition to dwellings and the nighttime element has been eliminated.

Which, if any, of these individuals is guilty of burglary?

- (A) All of them.
- (B) Only the friend.
- (C) Only the man.
- (D) Only the woman.

Question 5. Kristen works as a live-in maid for Ward and June Cleaver. Feeling that she is underpaid, Kristen decides to steal an antique Chinese vase from the Cleaver mansion. She takes the vase, puts it under her coat, and leaves the house. About an hour later, June Cleaver notices that the vase is missing and calls the police. Police Officer Joe Friday spots Kristen walking in the seedy part of town with a big bulge under her coat. Friday stops Kristen, who admits that she stole the vase. She turns the vase over to Friday.

Kristen tells Friday that she was going to sell the vase to Beaver, a well-known “fence” for antique artifacts. Hoping to earn a few commendation points on his record by catching the notorious Beaver, Friday hands the vase back to Kristen and asks her to go ahead with the sale to Beaver. Beaver, intending to add the vase from Kristen to his own private collection of rare Chinese antiques, buys the vase from Kristen for a small fraction of its real value.

Based on these facts, if Beaver is prosecuted for receiving stolen property, it is most likely that:

- A) Beaver is guilty because the low purchase price establishes that he either knew or suspected that the vase was stolen.
- B) Beaver is guilty because the vase was stolen.
- C) Beaver is not guilty because Friday recovered the stolen vase.
- D) Beaver is not guilty because he did not intend to resell the vase.

PART TWO - DIRECTED, SHORT-ANSWER QUESTIONS (each question with the exception of question five is worth 5 points. Question five is worth 10 points)

Part Three consists of eight questions in the form of hypotheticals, each of which describes a situation from which a particular criminal charge is likely to be brought and which is, therefore, governed by a specific rule of law. Each question requires that you identify the specific rule, or rules, that will control the result and requires a short answer, written in the following form:

Your answer must be a concise, proper analysis that includes: (1) Your statement of the likely result; (2) followed by an explicit statement of the governing rule of law; (3) followed by your application of that rule to the specific facts of the situation.

Limit your answer to the space provided. I will not read anything written beyond the lines provided. Pay particular attention to the call of the question.

QUESTION 1: Sam was driving home from MSL on a Friday evening after a very long day of studying for his mid-terms. As he was traveling South on Route 93, he saw Rhonda, a classmate of his, attempting to merge onto the on-ramp for 495 South. Rhonda failed to slow down enough to take the exit and her car ran into the guard rail and flipped over. The accident looked fairly serious. Certain that someone would report the accident and anxious to get to the liquor store to purchase a 30 pack of Pabst Blue Ribbon before the store closed, Sam did not stop to offer assistance. Unfortunately for Rhonda, no one reported the accident until several hours after Sam passed by and she died from internal bleeding before reaching the hospital.

What crime has Sam committed and what available defenses may he raise, if any?

QUESTION 7: A woman was waiting in line to enter the Shubert Theatre in downtown Boston to watch the holiday performance of the Boston Nutcracker when she noticed a free show-pass on the ground. Each pass had a space in which the owner of the pass was supposed to write in his/her name. The woman waited until she got to the cashier's window and presented the pass, seeking a free admission to the movie, and claiming that she received it as a birthday present from a friend. The cashier told her that the passes were invalid unless the holder's name was entered on the pass. The woman wrote her name on the pass, gave it to the cashier, and was admitted to the theater.

What crime has the woman committed and what if any available defenses may she raise?

PART ONE – DIRECTED, SHORT-ANSWER QUESTIONS

Part One consists of five questions in the form of hypotheticals, each of which describes a situation from which a particular criminal charge is likely to be brought and which is, therefore, governed by a specific rule of law. Each question requires that you identify the specific rule, or rules, that will control the result and requires a short answer, written in the following form:

Your answer must be a concise, proper analysis that includes: (1) Your statement of the likely result; (2) followed by an explicit statement of the governing rule of law; (3) followed by your application of that rule to the specific facts of the situation.

Limit your answer to the space provided. I will not read anything written beyond the lines provided. Pay particular attention to the call of the question.

QUESTION 1: Two friends decided to play catch with a baseball from opposite sides of a busy street. The friends threw the ball across the street to each other for approximately twenty minutes, nearly hitting several cars, pedestrians and bicycle riders several times. As one of the friends wound his arm up to hurl the ball across the street once more, a bicycle rider came along. The ball hit the bicycle rider in the neck, but did not injure the rider in any way. Annoyed, the rider flipped the ball to one of the friends and said, "You guys should probably take this game off the busy street."

What common law crime has the friend committed? (This Question is worth 5 Points) Limit your answer to the space provided.

QUESTION 2: A husband and a wife were chronic alcoholics. One afternoon the husband drank a fifth of bourbon and was drunk when his wife returned home from work. When the wife saw her husband's condition, she got very angry because they had planned to go out to dinner and celebrate their wedding anniversary. While the husband was passed out on the living room couch, the wife decided to fix herself a martini. After drinking two martinis, the wife became extremely inebriated. A short while later, the wife began preparing a third martini and tried to slice a lemon for the drink. As she did so, the knife slipped, and she cut her hand severely. With blood gushing from the wound, the wife called her husband to help her. He awoke momentarily, stood up, but fell back on the couch and passed out. He failed to render any assistance, and the wife bled to death.

If the husband is charged with involuntary manslaughter what would the prosecution have to prove in order to properly convict him and what possible defense could the husband raise? (This Question is worth 15 Points) Limit your answer to the space provided.
